What to Do with Your Account After Selling Your Practice

Last modified on 11/21/2025 3:00 pm EST

Contact your account manager if you sold your account and would like your DrChrono account and all patient information transferred to another provider.

As the owner of the practice, you are responsible for payment and data. After a transfer of ownership is complete, the new provider will have access to all of your patients' historical information.

If you don't know who your account manager is,create a support case.
