

Local Time Zone in Calendar

Last modified on 06/16/2025 9:00 pm EDT

For practices with offices, patients, or providers in different time zones, scheduling patients can be challenging. DrChrono has a feature to support this process.

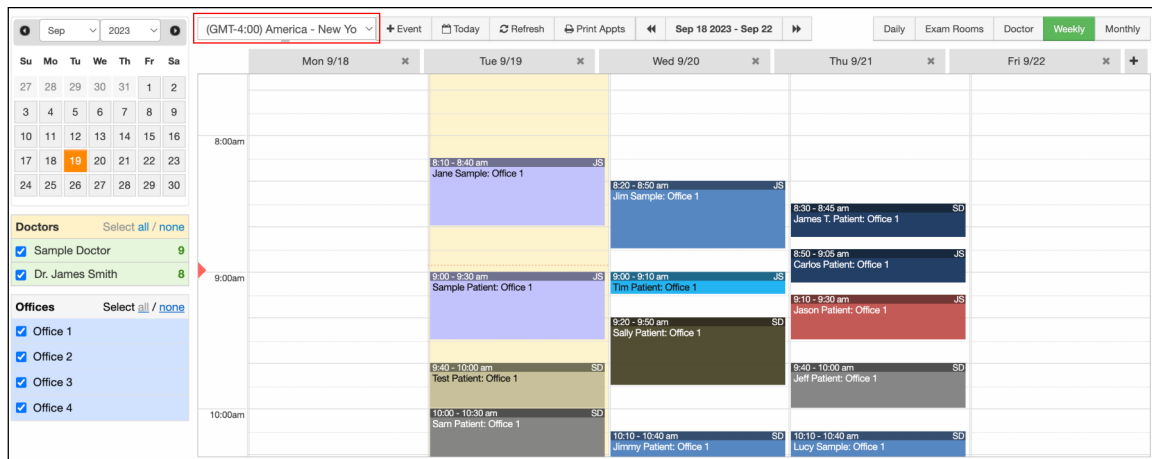

Once the feature is turned on, a dropdown at the top of the calendar shows the local time zone from your browser by default.

Create a support case to turn this local time zone feature on.

Changes to the time zone only affect the Calendar (the timezone dropdown in the calendar view).

When you select a different time zone from the dropdown, the appointments appear in the new time zone, making it easier to visualize your schedule across time zones.
