Go to the roadmap portal | Provide feature feedback | Become a beta partner

Use the DrChrono roadmap portal to preview new features and enhancements that are coming soon. You can provide feedback by letting the Product Development team know your interest or need for the feature, and whether you want to become a beta partner for a feature.

Go to the roadmap portal

1. Select Account > under Roadmap > Portal.

   The DrChrono Roadmap opens.

2. Do one of the following:

   - Select a tab to see which features are in discovery, in progress, in beta, or released status.
   - Select a portal card to read a feature description and access a knowledge base article for further information.
   - Provide feedback on a portal card.

Portal card statuses

Status	Description
Discovery	The feature idea is being investigated and reviewed to determine what actions can be taken and if it should be worked on.
In progress	The Product Development team is developing this feature.
Beta	The feature has been released to beta customers to see how they interact with it, if they use the correct workflow, and to identify any potential bugs for mass release.
Released	The feature has been released to all users and is live in production.

Provide feature feedback

You can provide feedback about a feature to the Product Development team.

1. Select a portal card and then scroll to the bottom of the card.

2. Select your level of need for this feature.

3. Enter comments or feedback on this feature, enter your email address, and then select Submit.

Become a beta partner

As a beta partner, you collaborate with the DrChrono Product Development team to test and evaluate pre-release versions of new software features before they're widely available.

- Get early access to new features and improvements in DrChrono web and mobile products
- Provide valuable feedback on functionality, usability, and performance
- Help identify potential bugs or issues in real-world usage scenarios
- Contribute directly to product improvements based on your practical experience
- Ensure new features meet the needs of healthcare providers like you

Ask to become a beta partner in the portal card

1. Select a portal card and then scroll to the bottom of the card.

2. Select your level of need for this feature.

3. Enter a comment expressing interest in becoming a beta partner, enter your email address, and then select Submit.

Leave any insights or comments about this solution; your input helps our product development team understand our customers' challenges.
