Enhancements

Unified tab bar controller for iOS devices

This update standardizes the tab bar controller across all iOS devices to ensure consistent functionality, improved reliability, and a streamlined user experience.

- Consistent look and feel: The tab bar behaves the same way across all devices.
- Improved performance and reliability: We refactored the underlying code to enhance app stability and reduce bugs.
- Seamless multi-tasking on iPad: The app adapts to whether you're using full screen or split screen.
- Real-time updates: Badges for tasks, messages, and account settings instantly refresh.
- Enhanced navigation: Dashboard links, patient search, and patient communications quickly and accurately open.
- Deep linking support: Jump directly to patients, messages, chat, appointments, and more — including from push notifications.

Resolutions

Battery drain issue in DrChrono EHR v11.1.0

Following the release of version 11.1.0, iPhone and iPad users reported accelerated battery drain during typical use. Standard actions—such as creating tasks or navigating between screens—led to rapid battery loss. The latest release includes performance and power usage optimizations that restore expected battery behavior and reduce background activity.
